Welcome

Welcome to San Diego State's 2004-2005 Donor Honor Roll. For the first time in our university's history, we're excited to present this publication to you online. By doing so, we are providing immediate and cost-effective communication.

This web site, which can be reviewed at your leisure, provides you with listings of the many generous alumni, parents, corporate partners and friends who are making a difference at SDSU. For your convenience, all donor lists are searchable by name and giving club/category.

We also hope you'll enjoy our section about the impact that endowments, or legacy gifts, are having in transforming our beloved university while ensuring its long-term prosperity.

Please feel free to provide us with feedback about our new, web-based publication—we welcome your comments on how we can maximize its user-friendliness and value for our donors and friends. In addition, if you'd prefer to be notified of the launch of next year's online Donor Honor Roll by receiving an HTML e-mail (rather than a letter sent through standard mail), opt-in to this complimentary service by submitting your e-mail address in the box to the left.

Annual Giving

Annual donors to San Diego State University provide the foundation necessary to achieve academic excellence and success. Their investments and active participation in the university community furnish the resources that allow SDSU to maximize current opportunities and take advantage of emerging possibilities.

The President's Leadership Fund

The President's Leadership Fund provides SDSU's president with the flexible resources that allow him to respond quickly to the responsibilities and demands of a world-class university. Established in October 2002 by The Campanile Foundation, The President's Leadership Fund has become a catalyst for change by investing in the strategic and innovative endeavors of SDSU's students, faculty and staff. Through the support of its 100 Founding Partners, funds have been allocated to over 50 initiatives which bring SDSU local, regional, national and international distinction.

Cumulative Giving

Donors who continue to give to the university over time provide an integral part of SDSU's long-term support system. Their ongoing commitment serves as a tribute to their belief in the mission of the university and constitutes a higher level of philanthropy that transcends campus boundaries.

Tower Society

The Tower Society was established in 1997, the university's centennial year, to honor individuals who have cumulatively given $25,000 or more to SDSU. Members of the Tower Society have created a legacy of giving that will continue to advance the university's educational mission for generations. The Tower Society designation recognizes donors at four levels:

- * Summa Cum Laude, for gifts totaling $1 million or more
- * Magna Cum Laude, for gifts totaling $500,000 to $999,999
- * Cum Laude, for gifts totaling $100,000 to $499,999
- * Honors, for gifts totaling $25,000 to $99,999

Summa Cum Laude $1,000,000+

Community Partners are organizational donors, including corporations and foundations, whose cumulative gifts help the university conduct its vital work in education, research and community service. The Community Partners designation acknowledges organizations making cumulative gifts at three levels:

- * Summa Cum Laude, for gifts totaling $1 million or more
- * Magna Cum Laude, for gifts totaling $500,000 to $999,999
- * Cum Laude, for gifts totaling $100,000 to $499,999

Planned Giving

Donors who arrange to benefit San Diego State University through planned gifts provide transformational support enabling the university to fulfill its obligations to future generations. Their vision, dedication and generosity ensure continuing excellence in education, research and service. Planned gifts, primarily those that create endowments and provide support in perpetuity, help shape the university by creating and sustaining critical academic programs.

For more information about how SDSU's planned giving vehicles can benefit you, please contact our Office of Planned Giving at (619) 594-7090 or visit our comprehensive website.

The Heritage Society

The Heritage Society recognizes individuals who have included SDSU in their estate plans through trusts, bequests or other forms of planned giving.

Alumni Center Campaign

We're currently raising funds to build a permanent home for SDSU's 200,000+ alumni. The SDSU Alumni Center will be the cornerstone of the university's efforts to serve its alumni and the greater San Diego community.

The Alumni Center will do more than host alumni—it will serve as a primary point of contact for visitors to our campus, as well as offer spacious meeting and event facilities. The building was designed with the goal of enhancing our ability to involve our alumni and community in campus-based activities.

We want to give our alumni a place to call home. This home will assist SDSU's efforts to secure the private support necessary to continue providing a first-rate education to our students while also being responsive to the needs of our community.

For more information about how you can become involved in making this dream a reality, please contact us at (619) 594-6119 or philanthropy@sdsu.edu.

Naming Gifts

SDSU acknowledges the generosity and leadership of alumni and community leaders whose support of this project will soon enable us to break ground on an Alumni Center which honors the past, celebrates the present and shapes the future.

Naming gifts to the Alumni Center Campaign honor an individual's or organization's legacy, while also celebrating their connection to SDSU, by inscribing a designated name in a specified area within or around the building. Naming opportunities are recognized by their corresponding location and level of support:

- * Cornerstone Columns, for gifts of $250,000 or more
- * Special Namings, for gifts of $25,000 to $249,999
- * Donor Honor Wall, for gifts of $10,000 to $24,999
- * Courtyard and Pavilion Pavers and Tiles, for gifts of $1,000 to $9,999

Endowments

Endowed contributions, or legacy gifts, made to San Diego State University establish a permanent source of funding for the program or initiative specified by a donor. SDSU's endowment provides an ongoing source of income for the university which offers financial security and benefits to the university in perpetuity. When an endowed contribution is invested, only a designated portion of the income is used annually to support the program or initiative identified by the donor. Each year, this percentage is set by The Campanile Foundation's Board, and returns above the annual distribution are added to the original principal.

Endowed gifts are crucial to our university's enduring prosperity. Because of the stability they offer, these contributions enable SDSU to make long-term commitments to a program or initiative. They protect us from the uncertainties of economic downturns and reduced government funding while providing an important source of current revenue to help us meet vital expenses not covered by student fees and state funding.

Endowed gifts not only provide the financial security SDSU needs to maintain a margin of excellence, but they also help us remain competitive over the long-term. Our university's challenge is to maintain and improve existing programs and services while also creating new opportunities that will prepare our students to become productive members of society.

Supporting SDSU through the creation of an endowment expresses a strong commitment to the importance of higher education and a belief in our mission of education, research and service. The Campanile Foundation is committed to ensuring that your investment supports our university today, and for generations to come.

Due to the increased philanthropic support of SDSU's alumni and friends over the last several years, as well as strong returns from our investment portfolio, our university's endowment has continued to realize significant growth. The growth of our university's endowment over the past five years is displayed in the following graph.

Investment Performance

Endowment growth is key to San Diego State's ability to realize our goals, particularly in providing scholarship opportunities to worthy students, recruiting and retaining distinguished educators and scholars and investing in existing programs of excellence while creating new programs that are responsive to the evolving needs of our community, region and nation.

Oversight of the university's endowment is the responsibility of The Campanile Foundation (TCF), SDSU's philanthropic auxiliary. In order to provide investment oversight, TCF's Board combines all endowment gifts into a single investment pool that is allocated among eight investment managers who represent seven major asset investment classes.

San Diego State has achieved outstanding investment results over the past five years. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 2005, our university's endowment investment pool earned a total return of 11.7%, and the total average return for the past five fiscal years placed our foundation in the top 18% of similar foundations.

Endowments in Action

The focus of San Diego State University's endowment is to enable sustainable advancement in four key areas: support for students, faculty development, program innovation and our learning environment. Please take a moment to read the inspiring profiles below which detail the extraordinary investments two of our endowment donors, Conrad Klement and Roel Construction Company, Inc., have made in SDSU's academic excellence—they're making a difference.

By establishing the Conrad Klement Memorial Scholarship in his estate plan, Conrad Klement created a legacy of enabling talented and financially deserving students, like Vanesa Arredondo, to receive a premier college education. Read Providing Superior Educational Experiences

Through their creation of the Roel Chair in Construction and Engineering Management, Roel Construction Company, Inc., enabled SDSU to recruit a highly regarded professor, Dr. Ken Walsh, to head up the Construction Engineering Management program, thereby driving it into high gear. Read Endowing the Future.

Providing Superior Educational Experiences

Growing up in Chula Vista, Vanesa Arredondo knew she'd earn her college diploma. As one of three children raised by a hard-working, single Mom, the importance of a higher education was emphasized in her household. Now Vanesa, Class of 2007, is pursuing her dreams at SDSU, where she majors in liberal studies in preparation for a career as an elementary school teacher.

While Vanesa was accepted to three schools within the University of California system, she chose to enroll at SDSU because she felt our curriculum and environment better suited her aspirations. "As soon as I came onto campus, it was clear that San Diego State was a diverse community that offered more opportunities to become involved in campus life," Vanesa said. "I really believed that SDSU could offer me a more dynamic and comprehensive college experience than other universities."

Vanesa was concerned about her ability to take advantage of the opportunities SDSU offered when she also needed to finance the cost of her education. "I applied for roughly 40 scholarships because I wanted to be involved on campus and within our community. I was incredibly lucky to be selected as one of the recipients for the Conrad Klement Memorial Scholarship, and now I have fewer worries and can work less—which really motivates me to keep my grades up and stay focused on school," Vanesa said.

The Klement Scholarship, designed to cover tuition, fees, books and on-campus room and board for accomplished, involved and financially deserving students, was established in 1999 with a $1.2 million bequest from Conrad Klement. Klement, a retired quality control inspector for Convair who possessed a fascination for aviation, bee-keeping and wood working, never attended college, but he always believed that education was the great equalizer.

According to Kathy Rahilly, one of his three children, “Dad was very proud that his children graduated from SDSU—he felt that our degrees helped us obtain good jobs, which enabled us to buy homes and provide a good life for our families,” said Kathy. “By establishing a scholarship fund at the university, he knew he could make a difference by supporting a diverse group of worthy students who were trying to help themselves, but desperately needed an extra push to attain their degree.”

Vanesa has proven herself to be precisely the caliber of student Klement envisioned assisting. To immerse herself in student life and meet new people, Vanesa is now involved with a number of organizations on campus including the Freshman Leadership Connection, which mentors incoming students by showing them how to get involved and teaching them leadership skills and Aztec P.R.I.D.E. (Philanthropic Role in Development and Education), a student organization that supports the Office of the President at University Advancement events by promoting SDSU to the community. What’s more, Vanesa is a member of SDSU’s Cheer squad, where she offers undying school spirit in support of Aztec athletic teams. “I love SDSU,” Vanesa exclaimed, “It’s important to give back to the university that has made my college experience so fulfilling.”

For Klement’s children, being a part of the selection process for their father’s scholarship is incredibly fulfilling. “We reminisce about special family moments while we honor Dad’s memory. Not only do we have a great time reading the applications, but it’s also rewarding to know that his legacy will live on,” reflected Kathy. “Supporting dynamic students like Vanesa would make our father very happy.”

Endowing the Future

More than ocean breezes attracted Ken Walsh, Ph.D. to San Diego to head the new Construction Engineering and Management (CEM) Program at SDSU’s College of Engineering. “There’s such a strong sense of community in San Diego,” said Walsh. “Most people in San Diego embrace SDSU as ‘their’ university, and the building industry has embraced this program so strongly. I saw the value of being part of a program with such a close connection to the community.”

In the mid 1990s, the San Diego Chapter of Associated General Contractors (AGC) initiated discussions with SDSU regarding their industry’s need for managers with a solid engineering and business management education. Together AGC and SDSU devised a solution, resulting in a partnership between the two organizations. To date they have raised more than $1.5 million through AGC member companies to launch the CEM program and endow its director, ensuring the recruitment of sought-after talent such as Walsh to develop and run the program. One AGC member, Roel Construction, made a leadership pledge of $500,000 to drive the program’s development into high gear.

“The building community of San Diego is always looking for young and talented people who want to pursue careers in construction and engineering,” said Kevin Elliott, president of Roel Construction. “We relish the idea of finding homegrown San Diego-educated quality talent. Under the leadership of Dr. Walsh, we’re excited about the caliber of graduates SDSU will produce. It is also personally gratifying that SDSU, my alma mater, and Roel are partnering to satisfy the needs of our industry."

This engagement between SDSU and the community is what brought Walsh from the Del Webb School of Construction Management at Arizona State University, currently the largest program in the U.S. "The construction industry is such a huge and vibrant part of San Diego, providing more than $3 billion annually to the local economy," Walsh said. "So many people are already aware of the program due to the enthusiasm of industry partners."

Fully staffed, the program will eventually employ four full-time faculty, and accommodate 200 undergraduate students and a graduate program supporting industry research. Students are able to pursue a degree in either construction engineering or construction management, and the program will be certified by both the Accreditation Board for Engineering and Technology (ABET) and the American Council for Construction Education (ACCE).
